

General Discussion Questions on Responsibility

How do societal expectations shape a character's sense of duty or moral obligation?

How does the failure of one character to act responsibly affect others around them?

How do guilt and responsibility interact in the story?

Can someone be morally responsible for something they didn't intend?

How does the era or culture of the text influence its portrayal of responsibility?

What lessons about responsibility can modern readers draw from this work?